A DAY IN BED.

An Experiment That Few Healthy People Have Time or Disposition to Try.

One often hears somebody say with glee that he is going to take a day off or a day in the country or a day on the river, but seldom if ever that he is going to take a day in bed, and yet a day so spent when one really needs a day off is one which deserves a red letter record in his history, according to a writer in the Pittsburg Times. One lies late of Sunday mornings and tells what a luxury it is not to have to get up at the usual hour, but one never knows the glory of such a thing till he spends a whole day in bed. To enjoy it one must not be sick nor pretend to be. He must be in fairly good health and free from trouble or worry of any sort. Then he is entirely himself, and it is the only place in which he can be.

As soon as he dresses he comes under restraint, not merely physical, but mental, for no one can wholly escape the influence of his clothes, whether they be good or bad, in fashion or out. For ages character has been identified with clothes and will be for ages, in spite of all that has been or will be said against it. One may not always be conscious of the influence, but it exists all the same. Not a trace of it is felt when one is in bed. There he is free. He can twist and roll and kick and throw his arms about as he will. If he should do the like elsewhere, there would be suspicion of his sanity. A day in bed is not a day of rest merely, but of liberty. He has the infinite for his own.

Not a few of Pope's best lines came to him while in bed. Thomson composed his finest description of natural scenery while in bed. A like thing doubtless may be said of the humorists. There is little doubt that the liveliest jokes current were thought out while their authors were in bed. The blood flows freely then, digestion does its perfect work, the mind is relieved of the care of the body, the imagination and fancy roam the earth and skies and gather of their treasures, the inscriptions on the tablets of memory come out, and incident and adventure recur in a light of their own, suggesting new ideas and relations. One never knows what life is till he has spent a day in bed, in full or fair health, without a thought save those which come smiling to him in his rest.

WASHINGTON'S MARRIED LIFE

Mrs. Washington's Mother Scarce Contributed to the Harmony of the Household

"There is every reason to believe that Washington's married life was one of increasing happiness and satisfaction," writes General A. W. Greely, U. S. A., in The Ladies' Home Journal. "Unfortunately his letters to his wife were destroyed by her. But there are sufficient allusions in his general correspondence to indicate that they grew together with declining years, and that both husband and wife showed that consideration toward and respect for each other which are the soundest guarantees of marital happiness. Since circumstances did not permit frequent visits of his wife to her relatives we find Washington inviting her mother to come to Mount Vernon as her home. It does not appear that this introduction added to the harmony of the household, or if it did the admission of other women, relatives of husband or of wife, did not

"In this respect Washington, writing later about his niece living at Mount Vernon, speaks of his love for her, but he says, 'I will never again have two women in my house when I am there myself.' Mrs. Washington proved an unfailing support to her husband in camp or court in peace or war, and Washington had her [illegible] and comfort always at heart. His field service was [illegible] some only a [illegible] constant [illegible] on the part of his wife. Of the many instances of his tender solicitude for her uncertain health there is none more touching than that connected with his fatal illness. Attacked suddenly and seriously after midnight, Washington's malady was at least hastened by his unwillingness that his wife should incur the risk of a cold by rising during the bitter winter night to relieve his suffering."

He Was Eligible.

James Payn, the London writer, says a young man was paying his attentions to a "beloved object," contrary to the wishes of her father, "a man of thews and sinews," and one day the latter kicked the lover violently into the street. In a day or two (after recovery) the rejected suitor, apparently not one whit discouraged, called at the house once more. "What, again!" exclaimed paterfamilias, putting on his well soled boots for action. "No, sir," cried the young man. "I have given up all hope of winning your daughter, but in consequence of that astounding kick you gave me the other day I have been requested, on the strength of my earnest recommendation to the committee, to ask you to join our football club"

A Coming Prophet.

WEAK MEN

CURED AS IF BY MAGIC.

Victims of Lost Manhood should send at once for a book that explains how full manly vigor is easily, quickly and permanently restored. No man suffering from weakness can afford to ignore this timely advice. Book tells how full strength, development and tone are imparted to every portion of the body. Sent with positive proofs (sealed) free to any man on application.

ERIE MEDICAL CO., BUFFALO, N.Y.

Half the fun of life is lost by many people through their neglect of one of Nature's most rigid laws. Nature insists on regularity. People who allow the continuance of any irregularity in their digestive organs soon have to pay the penalty. Free and regular movement of the bowels is the surest sign of good health.

The first question the doctor asks is: "Are your bowels regular?" If not, he gives something to make them so and quite often that is all he needs to do.

Assist Nature occasionally in removing offending matter from the stomach and bowels and you need never be very sick. Remember that assistance don't mean violence. What is needed is a gentle but efficient helper that will work so easily and so naturally that there will be no shock to the system.

Of all the remedies that have been prepared, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets best fill all the requirements. They are made of refined, concentrated vegetable extracts. One is a laxative—two a mild cathartic. They cure constipation, biliousness, dyspepsia, distress after eating, sour stomach, "heart-burn," dizziness, foul breath and all disorders due to imperfect digestion. Each little vial holds from forty-two to forty-four Pellets, and sells at the same price as the more common and cheaper made pills. A free sample package (4 to 7 doses) will be sent on request. Once used, they are always in favor. WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

MEN AND WOMEN to make big money with the Practical Plating Dynamo. Is the electrical machine used in the great plating factories; $65 to $85 a week made easy. Plates everything; no experience; big profits. Address W. P. Harrison & Co. Clerk No. 14, Columbus, Ohio.

Flower Festivals, Fiestas, Rose Carnivals,

AND THE LIKE, WILL BE THE DElight of California for the next two or three months.

Santa Barbara Flower Festival, the fame of which is world-wide, and the glory of which, like that of Soloman, is not half told, opens April 15, Queen Flora will reign three days an arbitrary and absolute despot.

La Fiesta de Los Angeles, now fixed in the chronology of California feasts, and not less illustrious than its older prototypes, commences April 22, and the riot of fun will spread over four days.

The Carnival of Roses, to take place in San Jose, May 6th to 9th, inclusive, though a more recent candidate for favors of the fun-loving world, yet because of the limitless possibilities of the Garden City for anything that is made of roses is quite as full of promise.

GREAT MEN DIFFER

Ex-Governor Colcord of Nevada, in an interview in the San Francisco Call, is reported as saying:

I am not the uncompromising silver advocate that many of our people are. I agree with Senator Wolcott that probably the best thing that can be done is to stay inside the Republican party and work as persistently as we can there. I am satisfied that even California is split up on that question.

I believe that not over half of the people here are for silver, and as for the strength of the Silver party over the country, I think it is falling away and getting weaker, rather than increasing. It looks to me so, therefore I think it is wise for us to pursue the best course we can, recognizing the situation.

Senator Teller of Colorado, whose opportunities of judging the financial question are at least equal to those of ex-Governor Colcord, and it is not disparaging to the ex-Governor to say, that the opinion of the Senator is entitled to as much consideration in or out of the Republican party as his, says in a letter to George L. Sopris, Denver, that he has given much time and painstaking investigation to the financial question, not only with reference to its influence on Colorado, but on the whole country, and its importance cannot be overestimated. There is nothing that so directly affects the people as the financial system under which they live. A French political economist once declared that the world had suffered more from false principles of political economy carried into the administration of public affairs, than from all the wars, famine and pestilence that have ever affected the human race. Senator Teller says he might have added that nearly all of the great wars of ancient and modern times resulted either from the administration of false, economic ideas or an attempt to enforce such false principles.

Want of space at this time prevents the publication of Senator Teller's letter in its entirety. He says the maintainance of the gold standard in Europe and America must ultimately change the conditions now existing in Europe and America to those now existing in Asia, that is, American and European laborers must, if European and American manufacturers succesefully compete with Asiatic manufacturers, accept lower wages and ultimately Asiatic wages and conditions. The great consuming population in Europe and America are the laborers, farmers and general producers. Decrease their wages and you decrease their consumption. Poverty will compel them to buy the cheap products of foreign lands, and tariffs that might ordinarily afford some relief to them will be denounced as adding to their burdens.

In the opinion of Senator Teller the greatest enemy of the protective system is he who advocates the gold standard. Republicans who believe in blindly following the gold leaders should make a note of this. Senator Teller has always been an advocate of protection and he believes that its greatest enemies are those who support the gold trust. He says the people will change the peesent monetary system and bring the country back to that state of prosperity and progress which, with our great natural advantages and intelligent, industrious people, we are entitled to enjoy. He does not believe like ex-Governor Colcord that the silver cause is losing ground, and he will not abandon it.

Ex-Governor Colcord takes a purely partisan view of the financial question; Senator Teller discusses it from the standpoint of the statesman. The one is intent only on helping the party with which he affiliates; the other has only the interests of the country at heart and does not consider the effect on party. The one looks at the question from the standpoint of the political spoilsman; the other from that of the patriot.

DOUBLE DEALING.

The San Francisco Call is one of the great papers of the United States and it favors pure politics. It has at intervals advocated the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, and conveyed to its readers the idea that it believes the restoration of silver is of paramount importance to the people of the United States. It is too vast, too important, too far-reaching to be overlooked for any other issue whatever, and it is for silver we must fight. It says the time for compromise is past, the battle is forced upon us: California is for free coinage.

That is plain language and right to the point, and it is with sincere regret that many who read the Call see in its editorial columns side by side the declaration that the remonetization of silver is the paramount issue and that it is for the Republican party, regardless of whom its nominee may be.

The Call should be above such double dealing in politics. It is no better than that which it condemns in the ward striker or heeler. If the free coinage of silver is the issue of greatest importance to the masses of the people, why should the Call or any other paper pledge its support to the Republican party or any other party unless that party is pledged, if successful, to restore silver?

A political party is supposed to be composed of persons who associate together for the purpose of giving the sanction of law to certain principles which they believe would benefit the country. If the Republican party declares for the gold standard at St. Louis, why should the Call or any other paper or individual that sincerely believes that the remonetization of silver is essential to the welfare of the country give that party its support?

Congressional Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—An understanding has been reached by which a vote will be taken on the resolution seating Henry A. Dupont as Senator from Delaware, after the River and Harbor bill has been disposed of.

Senator Morgan appeared in the Senate to-day for the first time since his illness began.

Senator Pfeffer this afternoon insisted upon having the bond investigation resolution considered. After a discussion, Frye moved to take up the River and Harbor bill, which would displace the bond resolution. This motion was defeated by 28 to 30 and the bond resolution was laid before the Senate.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

Four hundred plumbers and gas-fitters have struck at Kansas City for eight hours.

About $2,000,000 in gold has been ordered for shipment from New York to Europe to-day.

George T. Williams, a miner, was fatally shot at Maricopa, Arizona, yesterday by Cy Williams.

At the Methodist Episcopal Conference at Cleveland, Ohio, Dr Mueller offered a resolution which was adopted, in favor of arbitration in settling disputes between English speaking nations.

The Senate Committee on Public Lands, agreed to press upon the Steering Committee for consideration a bill to grant five per cent of the proceeds of the sale of public lands to the States in which the lands are sold.

Molar Reza, a follower of an agitator, has confessed that he assassinated the Shah of Persia. He says it was the result of a long planned conspiracy. He was chosen to commit the deed and waited two months for a favorable opportunity. Reza was imprisoned for treason in 1891, but was subsequently pardoned.

Senator Peffer's Bond Investigation resolution was laid before the Senate yesterday. Frye moved to take up the River and Harbor bill, which would displace Peffer's resolution, but Frye's motion was defeated by a vote of 39 to 28.

The Supreme Court of the United State has affirmed the judgment of the lower court in the case of F. A. Coffin, convicted of wrecking the Indianapolis National Bank. Coffin was sentenced to five years' imprisonment.

Mrs. Kate St. Charles Stetson, widow of the millionaire theatrical manager and real estate dealer, died yesterday in Boston of grief. She has been prostrated since the death of her husband two weeks ago.

Receivers have been appointed at Topeka, Kansas, by the United States Court for the Investment Trust Company of America, a large dealer in bonds. The directors are mainly New England capitalists. The authorized capital of the company was $3,000,000 of which $1,400,000 was paid in. The secretary says the outstanding debenture bonds of $2,000,000 are amply secured.

The street car employes at Milwaukee are out on strike and only half a dozen cars are running in the city. The strikers number about 1,000. A crowd surrounded the power houses and threw stones at the windows.

The California Republican State Convention meets at Sacramento today, and everything indicates that the delegates will be instructed for McKinley.

Condensed Testimony.

Chas. B. Hood, Broker and Manufacturers Agent, Columbus, Ohio, certifies that Dr. King's New Discovery has no equal as a cough remedy. J. D. Brown, proprietor of St. James Hotel, Fort Wayne, Ind., testifies that he was cured of a cough of two years standing, caused by La Grippe, by Dr. King's New Discovery. B. F. Merrill, Baldwinsville, Mass., says that he has used and recommended it and never knew it to fail, and would rather have it than any doctor, because it always cures. Mrs. Hemming, 222 E, 25th street, Chicago, always keeps it at hand and has no fear of croup because it instantly relieves. Free trial bottles at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store.

THE STATE VS. THE V. & T. R. R.

The Jury That Tries the Tax Suit.

The case of the State vs. the Virginia & Truckee Railroad Company, involving State and county taxes for the year 1895, amounting to $5,369 10, began in the District Court, Judge Cheney presiding, yesterday. District Attorney Norcross and Messrs. Torreyson & Summerfield appeared for the plaintiff, and W. E. F. Deal for the defendant. The following named jurors were impaneled to try the case: Alexander Dromiack, J. M. McCormack, W. A. Rider, A. Steiner, W. J. Hollingsworth, R. V. Borden, J. Stanaway, Bernard Campbell, J. M. Lamb, W. E. Gould, G. B. Hinkle and O. C. Ross.

The company claimed that the valuation was excessive and offered in payment about $3,700. The tender was refused by ex-officio Tax Collector Boyd, who claimed that he had no authority to receive any less than the full amount on the assessment roll. That the company refused to pay, and the property, consisting of over 25 miles of main track and three and one-half miles of side track, locomotives, cars, etc., was advertised with other property on which taxes were not paid, and suit brought for the collection of the taxes. District Attorney Norcross presented the case for the State, and Judge Deal the defendant's side.

Several witnesses for the defense, some of them from San Francisco, among them Southern Pacific officials, are expected here to-day to take the stand for the defendant. It is reported that evidence will be introduced to show that the road could be duplicated for less than the assessed valuation.

BREVITIES.

M. G. Cecil, formerly clerk at the Palace and now an employe at the prison, returned last evening from a short visit to relatives and friends at Chico, Cal. He leaves for Carson this morning.

Mr. E. A. Holman of the New Palace Bakery has employed an expert and artistic baker from San Francisco. Patrons may be assured of the finest of bread, pies, cakes and baker's novelties from now on. *my5tf.

Frank Dickinson is in from his ranch on his monthly visit. He looks as rugged as a bear and acts as lively as a lark. He says farming agrees with him and he is for a farmer for President, and that farmer is Tillman.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Bank of Nevada takes place to-day in the bank building. Daniel Meyer, the San Francisco capitalist, and the Brown brothers of San Francisco are here to attend the meeting.

The Chronicle says the following Republicans were chosen delegates from Storey to the State Convention which meets in Virginia City next Saturday: John Barclay, A. B. Stoddard, William McMillan, R. S. Meacham, Thomas Beals, J. E. Wratten.

At the Hotel Reno, late arrivals were the Ezra Kendall "Pair of Kids" Company on Sunday evening from Virginia; the Shaw Dramatic Company of twenty people from the west; eight of the Carleton Opera Company; L. Applegate, Washington; A. Hooks and family Kansas; Thos. McGinness and Halvor Jacobson, San Francisco; Thos. F. Cavanaugh, John S. Forrester and family Ed Klines, Virginia City,

Diseased Cattle.

EDITOR JOURNAL:—A communication in the Evening Gazette of this date signed J. M. Fulton, implies that diseased or lump-jawed cattle are being disposed of in Reno to some of our local butchers

This is a serious charge and one which our local butchers should resent if they do not deal in such cattle, and we do resent it, as no such cattle have ever been purchased or disposed of by us. DIXON BROTHERS.

HARVEY—ST CLAIR—in Star Valley, Elko county, April 21, 1896, by Rev. M. S. Riddle, L. M. Harvey and Miss Helen St. Clair.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

CARSON MINT SHORTAGE.

ANOTHER ACT IN THE DRAMA CONCLUDED—WHAT COMES NEXT?

John T. Jones Sentenced to Eight Years in the Nevada State Prison—Rumors of Further Proceedings and Arrests.

[Correspondence of the JOURNAL.]

CARSON CITY May 4, 1896.

A closely packed crowd of citizens, including many ladies, were at the U. S. District Courtroom this morning, to see and hear sentence pronounced upon Johnny Jones. Many were unable to obtain entrance and had to occupy the hallway, with the Courtroom doors left open for them to see and hear what they could.

The Court being called to order, Judge Hawley stated that the time had come for pronouncing sentence upon John T. Jones, and said:

"Mr. Jones, you were indicted by the Grand Jury of the State of Nevada for the crime of larceny, in the feloniously taking from the Carson mint gold metal, the property of the United States. You have had two trials, in both of which you have pleaded not guilty. The first jury disagreed, but this last jury, after fair and impartial consideration, pronounced you guilty as charged in the indictment. Have you now any legal cause to show why sentence of the Court should not be pronounced against you?"

Attorney Woodburn, attorney for the defense, said:

"Your Honor, defendant instructs me to state that he has nothing to offer why the judgment of the Court should not now be pronounced."

His Honor proceeded substantially as follows:

It is evident to everybody that the feeling in this community regarding you and the charges made against you is very different from what it was when the mint trial first commenced. At that time, generally speaking, a large and responsible portion of the community, among whom you was very popular, looked upon your prosecution more as a persecution on the part of the United States officials and that you could not possibly be convicted by a jury of your fellow-citizens.

Even through the progress of the Heney trials, previous to yours, for the same crime, popular opinion seemed to be against the charge of this wrong doing, on the part of both Heney and yourself, and every influence was brought to bear in your defense, yet to-day I am proud to say that the ends of Justice have been reached, and the majesty of the law triumphantly sustained.

On occasions like this I have sometimes wished that I possessed the power, the magnetism to impress upon the minds of the young people of the community, the true and absolute idea that they should each and all be true and loyal to the laws of the community and the Government, their only shield and protection in life. The result of this trial has been perfectly satisfactory to me in a just and legal point of view, because the verdict of the jury has proven to be just beyond all question. I have no desire to say anything further to wound your feelings, for you certainly know that I have been influenced throughout by a desire to perform my sworn duty by our Government, our people and yourself, impartially and true.

The sentence of this Court is that you be confined in the State Prison of the State of Nevada for a period of eight years at hard labor and be fined in the sum of $5,000.

And now Mr. Jones you have it in your power to lessen this term of imprisonment by a strict obedience to the rules and regulations of the prison, and I desire to impress upon your mind the necessity of obeying the laws, rules and instructions of that institution. By so doing, make your time there as short as possible, thinking of your wife and children, of your many true friends. You are yet a young man and will come out of prison with a long life before you, with this being a very impressive lesson to seek by an honest life and future endeavor to blot out the stain you have placed upon yourself and family.

Johnny Jones listened very seriously and respectfully, taking his medicine like a philosopher, and Court adjourned till 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

Shortly before noon Jones was taken to State Prison in a private conveyance accompanied by Warden Henderson and the Secretary of the Prison.

RENO PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Reports and Honor Rolls for the Month of April, 1896.

To the Honorable Board of School Trustees—GENTLEMEN: Our work for April was somewhat interrupted by the vacation incident to the State and County Institute, held here April 6-10. The interruption, however, was beneficial in many ways. It gave the pupils their usual and needed spring vacation; and, while it afforded our teachers no rest—constant Institute attendance and the duties incident thereto being much more laborious than teaching—it was a change for them, a change by which they were mentally refreshed and enriched.

Our schools will be better because of the late Institute. Such a gathering always has an awakening effect upon teachers, pupils, parents and the general public. The interest it arouses in educational work, the inspiration it gives for broader and better education, for the upbuilding of a better manhood and womanhood in our boys and girls, for more thoughtful attention to all the little things that make for the improvement of heart and mind and body, are a rich compensation for the time, labor and money expended.

The lady teachers of Reno faithfully attended to Institute work and duties all the week, and those who had special work in the Institute (not the least among whom were the music and kindergarten teachers) reflected much credit upon our schools.

The Opera

Quite a large audience greeted the Carleton Opera Company last night at McKissick's Opera House and all were highly pleased with the performance. The members of the combination, without mentioning any individual person, carried his or her part in artistic style. The solos, duets and choruses were all well rendered and were received with good rounds of applause and in some instances encores. The company is good and should do a good business. The next attraction will be Shaw's Big Dramatic Company. They open here on the 18th and will play a week.

HER BOOK FRENCH.

Errors Made by a Boarding School Girl In Paris.

"It is a wise old saw which advises one 'not to go to France unless you know the lingo,' and indeed it is desirable to know it pretty well if you wish to avoid humiliating little situations," said a Philadelphia young woman in speaking of her experience. "I am an American girl, and about a year ago was rather proud of my boarding school French, but I am wiser now. We were a party of four—my parents, myself and a young lady, some years my senior, who had been my schoolmate, but was recently widowed. Our tour began in Germany, and as we were all densely ignorant of Germany, we were oftentimes compelled to depend greatly on gesture language, especially in out of the way places, where there were no English speaking hotel or railroad clerks and waiters. This gave us some decidedly comical experiences, though it was a revelation as to the capabilities of dumb show and pantomime, but on touching French soil I felt relieved and confident. Alas for human pride! At the first practical test, though I could read the language easily enough, I found I could scarcely catch a word.

"The sounds seemed to fly like winged arrows, and it might have been Chinese, so far as my understanding it was concerned. Some of the more considerate, out of pure instinctive politeness, would speak very slowly, and then I could get along well enough, and in the course of a few days I began to recover some of my old confidence. My first real humiliation came at a restaurant in the Palais Royal, when I wanted a spoon (cuiller) and asked for a staircase (escalier). I got over that, however, but was caught shortly afterward with the word 'frappe' on the wine list, which stuck me altogether until a young Englishman told me it meant 'iced.' By this time the conceit was rapidly oozing out of me, and two more little incidents brought on the catastrophe. Our party determined one day to go to the theater, and I undertook to ask the clerk of the hotel about it, and in what I thought the purest Parisian French told him we wanted a box, which I translated 'boite.' Unable quite to restrain his laughter, he said, 'Mademoiselle means a loge.'"

"I then discovered that 'boite' means a dry goods box, or any other kind almost rather than one at a theater. But worse remained. I wanted to explain to some French people that my friend, the widow, was in mourning for her husband, and I tried to say, 'Elle est en deuil parceque son mari est mort,' she is in mourning because her husband is dead. Unfortunately my conjugation of verbal participles was weak, and I substituted the word 'morue' for 'mort,' which made me say, 'She is in mourning because her husband is a codfish.'"—Philadelphia Call.

THE RETIRED BURGLAR.

Perhaps the Most Curious of His Many Singular Adventures.

"In a house that I went into one night in the country," said the retired burglar, "I saw when I got up on the second floor a light coming out into the hall from an open door. When I got a look into that door, I saw a man all dressed standing leaning over a bed. I couldn't see his face, but I could see anxiety on the back of his head. Lying in the bed was a child, thin and white and still, but awake and looking up at its father. Backing out of the door, I ticked my lamp against the door jamb. The man looked up. He wasn't scared. I doubt if he would have been anyway, but he was thinking of something else now.

"'Come in,' he says, and I went in.

"The child looked at me as I walked across the floor, and then looked up again at its father, saying nothing, but just lying there and looking up.

"How the man came to be fixed in that way, all alone with that child, I could not even guess. Wife just died maybe, but there he was and thinking of nothing else in the world, and the child was the pitifullest looking little child I ever saw.

"What the man wanted was to have me go for the doctor. He told me his name, and the doctor's name, and where he lived, and I went. It was late, you understand, but I whanged away on the doctor's door till I heard him open his window. I told him what was wanted.

"'All right,' he says, and I thought by the way he said it he knew about the child.

"Then I went my way. I'd lost a night, but what of that?"—New York Sun.

Maimed Painter.

Tennyson's line, "And breasts the blows of circumstance," finds a picturesque illustration in this paragraph from The Literary Digest:

The right hand of the Russian painter Vereschagin is thumbless. His right thumb was bitten by a leopard some years ago and had to be amputated. The middle finger also of his right hand is lamed and useless as the result of a shot wound which the artist received on the battlefield. More than this, the small bones of the center of his right hand were also partially shattered by a fall on the Russian steppes, and his right arm was broken in the same accident. Nevertheless it is with this damaged right hand that Vereschagin paints his wonderful pictures.

In the neighborhood of Shanghai there grows an herb known as the laughing plant, the flowers and seeds of which, when eaten, are said to cause the same effect as that produced by the laughing gas sometimes used by dentists.

The Lady and the Cyclist.

A lady protected herself against the rushing advance of a cyclist in Brompton road, London, in original and commendable fashion. The Telegraph of that city describes how the cyclist was racing along at his best pace and the lady was crossing the roadway. Instead of making a detour to avoid her, the man simply rang his bell and rushed on without abatement of speed, considering that he had thus done his duty to society. Pedestrians on the footpaths and busmen on their perches saw that a collision was inevitable. So did the lady, who braced herself for the ordeal and resolved on offensive tactics. Giving her body—not by any means that of a pygmy—a rapid swing, she brought the strongest and most padded part of her figure into contact with the front wheel of the machine and the bicyclist himself and sent them both sprawling into the roadway. Then, giving her skirts another swing, just to prove that they had suffered no damage, she finished her journey across the road and turned round and laughed with others at the unhappy cyclist as he picked up himself and the disjecta membra of his once perfect machine. He made his way to the curbstone, where he sat down to contemplate the damage, and finally he put the thing on his shoulder and carried it away.

The Successful One.

"So Miss Keene is married," said one young man.

"Yes," replied the despondent lover, "and to another."

"I thought she regarded you very kindly."

"She did. And I lavished every attention on her. I took her to the opera every night, and then she married my rival."

"She thought he had more money than you."

"She was sure of it. He couldn't help but have after I took her to the opera every night."—Washington Star.
